Scope and Content Note

The papers of Richard William Murphy (1929-) span the years 1958-1996, with the bulk of the material dating from 1983 to 1996. The papers include appointment calendars, biographical material, correspondence, newspaper clippings, notebooks and notes, photographs, speeches and writings, State Department papers, and television transcripts. Almost all of the papers are professional rather than personal and are concerned with Middle East affairs and United States foreign policy. The papers date primarily from Murphy's term as assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs (1983-1989) and his subsequent activities as an editorial writer, speaker, television commentator, and senior fellow for the Middle East at the Council on Foreign Relations. Prominent correspondents include George Bush, Jimmy Carter, Warren Christopher, and Richard M. Nixon.
